

- Home
- News Update

News

- Front Page
- Corporate
- Markets
- Info-Tech
- Marketing
- Money & Banking
- Agri-Biz & Commodities
- Industry & Economy
- Logistics
- Government
- Opinion
- Variety
- Corporate Results
- Columns
- Index
- Archives

Features

- Investment World
- eWorld
- Catalyst
- Mentor
- Life
- Canvas
- Praxis
- Urban Pulse
- Brand Quest

Stocks

- Quotes
- SE Diary
- Scoreboard
- Open-End Mutual

Industry & Economy - Social Welfare

Half-a-day's pay, but a big change for the children

Anjali Prayag

Bangalore , Sept. 28

IN its one year of existence, the Bangalore-based Parikrma Humanity Foundation has impacted three groups (if not more) of people at different levels: About 500 school dropouts, employees of 20 corporates and the team at Parikrma itself.

The 500 children are now in school and learning interesting things about Japan and Korea, speaking almost flawless English and are eating healthy nutritious food. All this has been possible thanks to half-a-day's salary contributed by the corporate citizens of the city. Says Mr Vivek Raju, Head, Marketing, Parikrma Foundation, "This is CSR (corporate social responsibility) with a different approach."

The Parikrma team realised that in India, it is difficult to appeal to guilt and most people were not moved by poverty because it has become a "part of our lives."

So the team decided to appeal to the executives differently: That they have the power to change someone's life by a small contribution: a half-a-day's salary.

"We need about Rs 15,000 per year to take care of a child's needs covering health, education, nutrition and community development. And all they need to do is give up half a day's salary. i.e., about Rs 300."

Stories in this Section

Consumer durables becoming dearer this festive season

We may not meet 10th Plan targets, says Pranab

Kerala records tardy growth in revenue receipts: Study

Govt to once again dip into PSU reserves to cover revenue shortfall

Govt plans to save Rs 3,000 cr through austerity measures

Effluent trigger ruled out in Thiruvananthapuram beach

Kamal Nath to attend bilateral meetings during Europe tour

EU regulation on trade preference likely in Oct

Non-oil trade with UAE touches \$7.14 b

Apollo launches telemedicine link with Pak

Unease in Gulf, Nigeria makes oil, financial markets jittery

Shell Hazira opposed to LNG imports under f.o.b.

Scarce commodity

Boost your school's fundraising and sales.

Collect payments for K-12 schools, online or in person, with PayPal.

Learn more

Fund

Cross Currency

- Rates

Shipping

- Ports

Archives

- Yesterday
- Datewise
- Resources

Google™

Search

Group Sites

- The Hindu
- Business Line
- Sportstar
- Frontline
- The Hindu eBooks
- The Hindu Images

In fact anybody who is part of the 'Change your world in half-a-day' becomes a Parikrma stakeholder.

Parikrma currently has three schools in Bangalore with students studying from kindergarten to Standard 6. And all three schools follow the ICSE curriculum, says Mr Raju.

Talking about the entire process of change that they are trying to bring about in Bangalore's slum children, Ms Shukla Bose, Founder and CEO of Parikrma, says, 'We begin with teaching them life skills: how to eat, dress, talk, etc. Then the literary education begins.'

This model has enabled Parikrma teachers in engaging children at school, rather than coercing them into attending classes.

Ms Bose feels these children need to compete on equal terms with other children and they also need to be change agents in their own community. In fact, some fathers of these children are going through the de-addiction programme initiated by Parikrma.

The foundation takes care of the child's nutrition by providing three meals everyday. It also ensures that the child is administered all the necessary immunisation.

Talking about Parikrma's marketing experience, Ms Bose says she is overwhelmed by the response she has been getting from young Bangaloreans, while the lukewarm response by some older citizens and some large companies has been an 'eye-opener.'

"I only think these companies and executives ought to give back something to the city that they are thriving in," she feels.

More Stories on : Social Welfare | Children & Parenting | Karnataka

Article E-Mail :: Comment :: Syndication :: Printer Friendly Page

Regulator asks MSEB, State Govt to settle dues

NTPC hopes to finish TN project study by Dec

Price bids for Bidadi to open next month

CM to open Kerala Travel Mart at Kochi

AP panel to monitor talks with Naxalites

Zee Tele gets nod to launch sports channel

Zee has not met eligibility criteria: ESPN-Star

'Thai trade pact no threat to CTV sector'

'Withdraw special excise duty on soft drinks'

AP Govt moves to revive handloom sector

'Mining hits women hard'

Telugu film industry to set up monitoring cells to curb piracy

'Popcorn' team arrives

Post offices give swanky banks a run for their money

Half-a-day's pay, but a big change for the children

Rate slab fixed for SGSY loans

Banks told to help rural women in AP

Chidambaram for flexibility in labour markets

Earn a rate that's top of market
with DIME Direct Money Market.
No monthly fees.
DETAILS >

C1 India goes live with e-tendering platform

Management meet on Oct 7

Travel Mart at Colombo

In Thiruvananthapuram today

In Hyderabad today

Ayurveda resort launched

The Hindu Group: Home | About Us | Copyright | Archives | Contacts | Subscription

Group Sites: The Hindu | Business Line | Sportstar | Frontline | The Hindu eBooks | The Hindu Images | Home |

Copyright © 2004, The Hindu Business Line. Reproduction or dissemination of the contents of this screen are expressly prohibited without the written consent of The Hindu Business Line